The idea of this design started with creating voids in the facade. Each of the facades is divided into two parts, and a void has been created between them, which has its own use in each facade, including the main and secondary entrances, the stairs to the roof, and in the eastern facade, there is the jacuzzi that is directly in touch with the kitchen. Surfaces have also been added to pass from the east and west sides of the facade to emphasize more on the created voids.

THE CONCEPT IDEA

We've chosen JAPANDI (japanese) interior style for design of this villa project . Japandi is an emerging interior design style that's becoming even more popular this year. What we love about this design concept is the clean lines, effortless style, and a mix of materials that create a serene living space. Each aesthetic focuses on simplicity, soft hues, natural materials, and comfort. Combined, Modern Japanese and Scandinavian interior design create a fresh look—Japandi .

WHAT IS JAPANDI INTERIOR STYLE?

Japandi is the intersection of Scandinavian and modern Japanese interior design styles. Both, rooted in minimalist design principles, with a focus on warmth, natural elements, and muted color palettes. With Japandi, you won't find ornate, gaudy detailing. Instead, shapes and lines really shine in these spaces with functional yet aesthetically pleasing furnishings and decor. Ample natural light and plants are also a key feature in Japandi interior design .
